DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hietpas et al (2003/0136099).

Hietpas teaches a yarn for use in a stretchable fabric comprising 30% by weight or more of polytrimethylene terephthalate based staple fiber (Abstract; Summary of the Invention). In regards to it being a sewing thread, this is intended use. In regards to the claimed test results and properties, including breaking elongation and instantaneous elastic recovery, these are all inherent properties of the material as claimed. Since Hietpas teaches the claimed material, in the claimed structure, he also inherently teaches all inherent material properties.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hietpas.

Hietpas essentially teaches the invention as detailed above, but fails to specifically teach using as a seam thread. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to utilize the thread of Hietpas as a sewing thread, so as to provide its taught stretchability to all aspects of a fabric. The ordinarily skilled artisan would appreciate these teachings and know to do such, so as to improve the overall stretchability of the fabric.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Chang et al (2004/0009352), Howell et al (2001/0030377), Hornez et al (6905764), and Yuuki (6815060) all teach what is well known in the art.
